THE Opium market has been very stagnant or some time past Last year more Oplum was sold for Chine than for many a year before, as we mentioned in our review of the Customs Returns. We might expect a somewhat duller trade this year as a consegreenes of that circumstance slower But the Opium crop is desciont in India and prices are high, whilet in China the Exeobush crop is plentiful and prices are low, 80 tacks a picul less than last year. There are the efforts of the Mandaries in this province, besides, to check the consumption. Army, on the 4th lust., an officer who forty-three years ago accomplished a most remarkable journey of exploration from Monimein, on the Tenaseries coast to the south-western frontier of China Lieutenant McLood was sent in the end of 1836 by Mr E. A. Blundell, then Commissioner of the Tenanserim provinces, with instructions to penetrate to the frontier towns of China with the view of opening commercial intercouse between the Chinese traders and our provinces on the coast. He reached Riang-Bung (otherwise Klong-Hong), on the Mekong or Great Cambodia River, the seat of a Shan or Laos principality, which then acknowledged acurious double bomsge to both China and Burma. The chiefe of Klang-Hung referred for instructions to Yunnan-fu. and were informed in reply that "the authorities there had consulted all their historical works and could not find a precedent for an officer entering China by that road ; he should go to Canton, So Identepent Molecod had to return by the way he came. But he had succeeded in reaching a point in the very heart of a terra incomits, and one which was not reached again till the memorable French expedition under Doudart us la Gree and Garnier seconded the Mekong thirty years later. McLegd was a good observer and surveyor, a man of great merit and of great modesty. His journey was not much known, and was pever schnowledged by gold medal or otherwise. For many years the only accessible account of it was an abstract in the "Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal," Vol. VI: but at the time of the Spry agl tation for a railway to south west China his diary was printed by order of the House of Commons (August 10, 1869).-Ibid.

PORTUGAL AND CHINA.

The Journal da Colonia, a Lisbon newspaper, commenting on a telegram to the effect that China will shortly claim possession of Macao, basing her right on the fact of Portugal having occupied Macao without obtaining the permission of the Celestial Empire, and without war or treaty, states that "this is contrary to history. Maoio was conceded to the Portuguese in 1566, on condition that she should pay an annual tribute to the Chinese Government, while the Celestial Empire should be represented in Macao by a resident Mandarin. The payment of the tribute ceased in 1849 after the war between Portugal and China, and the barbarous assassination by the Chinose of Ferreira do Amaral, Governor of Macao," Although the Governmen here seems to have received no official The American ship Paul Rivers arrived information on the subject, the general opinion is that the Governor of Macao had a march stolen on him by the wily Vicercy of the two Kuangs, and it is reported that it is the intention of the Government to dismiss the Minister allowed himself to be outwitted by the about the intentions of the Administraastate diplomacy of the representative tion with regard to the China Mission. of the Celestial Empire. At the same time, there was an evident desire to conciliate decent public opinion if it could be done without too severely hurting the feelings of the members of the China Ring; and so, out of an apparent anxiety not to be disagreeable to anybody, there has been any quantity of the most discreditable sort of shilly-shally and equivocation which rather plainly indicates that the State Department is about as badly in need of reorganization as the Diplomatic and Consular Corps in China happen to Por some days past it has been very much in doubt whether Minister Seward had resigned or had been re-
